THE LIVER AND ITS FUNCTIONS.

It has become a well established fact that the larger portion of diseases to which the human family is subject arise in the first place from some derangement of the liver. The organ is not only the largest, but at the same time one of the most important. The venous blood, after its return to the heart, passes through this organ, and in its passage the impurities, as also the secretions of the various organs for digestion as well as for excretion, are eliminated. From this it is easily seen that the liver is liable to get out of order to a greater or less extent, and when this occurs it is impossible for it to properly perform its office of removal of the impurities of the blood from the system, but allows it to pass through, carrying with it the poisons of which it should have been relieved.

With impure blood the whole system becomes deranged, and no organ can properly perform its function unless it is supplied with pure blood to maintain its strength.
So the liver becomes an important and when one has the feeling of being continually tired, worn out, or stagnated, it indicates a derangement of the liver.

Will be given at the SALT LAKE THEATRE, on Saturday, March 1st, 1884, Commencing at 2 o'clock.

There is room for all. All are invited.

The programme will comprise dances, marching, the Performing Elephant, a Tournament between two Knights on Horseback, Omnibillies of the two celebrated Chinese Tumblers, and other specialties. It is the have been fed up expressly for this occasion.

The festivities will commence with the usual march, at 2 o'clock, with dancing until 6 p.m., when the first Grand March will start, directed by a Drum Major in full ornament. Twenty-four beautiful little girls will head the procession, followed by the Elephant, the Giant, two men on horseback, etc. The Grand March will be given every hour until 9 o'clock p.m., with new features.

In order to give the public an opportunity to see the extraordinary spectacle of a thousand children, and witness the Grand March, it has been decided to open the First Circle, and, if necessary, the Second Circle, to Spectators, and as the entertainment is given up expressly to afford amuse-
